What many don't know is the fact if you really want to improve your life, you really absolutely can do it by applying what he teaches. Exactly what still fewer know, however, is where HE learned what he teaches. Inside fact, he could be a much better marketer than a teacher (although I'm not banging his teaching skill) which explains why you have heard of him or her but most likely not observed of individuals like Milton Erickson, Richard Bandler, John Grinder, Tad James or other giant academics who uncovered a huge part of what became Tony's original books (like this one). Read this publication, but if you look at it as an introduction to the amazing ideas of mind power and then go to the sources (like those authors mentioned above) you will start to access a part of your mind few people know exist- and that fewer have the curiosity and the courage to touch its power.
